 began working with glass in 2001.

Having interned with a production glass blower, I decided to further my interests in the medium and studied at Rhode Island School of Design.

After University I began designing and manufacturing glass mosaic tile... and never looked back! My attention to detail and meticulous craftsmanship shows in the mosaic tile designs. Aside from using my hands to craft tile, these hands also dabble in music making, cooking and tree climbing.

Company Background

striking, one-of-a-kind, limited edition art pieces to accent the home or office.

Mosaics can be traced back to Fourth Millennium BC in early Mesopotamia, with evidence of primitive arrangements of pebbles and stones to create patterns, images and decorative surfaces. Mosaics are a true art form that is as significant today as it was then.

112 Glass House strives to stay true to the primitive, manual, handcrafting of mosaicing in the modern world while designing contemporary glass signature art pieces since its establishment in 2015.

All products are Brooklyn made, 100% US domestic. Designs are hand drawn, crafted, and cut to create pieces that are unique and customizable. No mass production, only meticulous craftsmanship of art and decor.

We aim to please.
